Headline:

Sunny spells, a few showers and feeling very warm.

Today:

A dry start with plenty of early sunshine. Patchy cloud develops through the day, still allowing sunny spells to develop, but also bringing a risk of a few heavy showers, these mostly affecting Cumbria and the Pennines. Very warm. Maximum temperature 26 deg C (79 deg F).

Tonight:

Late spells of sunshine for most as showers quickly ease into the evening. Dry overnight with clear spells, lengthiest across the north, allowing a few fog patches to form there. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tuesday:

Starting off dry on Tuesday, with fog soon clearing. Widespread and often heavy showers developing through the day, with a risk of hail and thunder. Cloudier and cooler than Monday. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:

Further heavy and possibly thundery showers on Wednesday. Fewer showers on Thursday and Friday, though some still heavy. Cooler throughout and rather windy at times.
